Trade Unions launch two-day strike

● Banking services hit; employees out on streets in protest ● ATMs not affected today

Trade Union leaders and employees staging protest in front of the DC's office in city this morning.

Mysuru, Mar. 28 (PM&BCT)- A 48-hour nationwide strike called by different Trade Unions to protest against Government policies kicked off this morning. The strike opposes the Banking Laws Amendment Bill 2021. The strike is also called to oppose the Central Government's move to privatise public sector banks.

In Mysuru, there was a good response where services at most of the nationalised or public sector banks, including the State Bank of India (SBI) and Canara Bank, were paralysed. Though the banks had informed their customers about the proposed strike and likely impact on the services in advance, some people had turned up at banks but had to return.

Transactions at many public sector banks have been impacted as employees did not report for duty. Besides, there is bound to be a delay in cheque clearances and Government Treasury operation might also be affected by the strike.

Certain private sector banks, however, functioned normally. However, those private banks, co-operative banks, regional rural banks and foreign banks affiliated to All India Bank Employees Association (AIBEA) joined the strike.

On Mar. 30 and 31, the services will remain suspended due to the end of the financial year.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The Russian invasion of Ukraine and the devastation it has caused there are expected to trigger a catastrophic food crisis worldwide. The two countries are major producers of food grains, with Russia and Ukraine ranking the largest and fifth-largest exporters of wheat in the world. According to the FAO, together they provide 19% of the world's barely supply, 14% of wheat and 4% of maize. They account for a third of the world's cereal exports and over half the world's sunflower oil exports. Not surprisingly then, any disruption in the production and transport of food grains from Russia and Ukraine would have a crippling impact on global food availability. Cereal crops will be ready for harvest in Ukraine in June. Will the situation there permit farmers to harvest then? Mass displacement has taken place in Ukraine, will farmers find labourers to harvest the crops?

The food crisis is likely to hit countries in Asia and Africa the hardest. At the best of times, countries on these continents suffer shocking levels of hunger and starvation. The pandemic induced breakdown in global supply chains worsened these problems. The Ukraine crisis has hit them even before they could recover. Russia and Ukraine meet half of Bangladesh's wheat requirements; almost 40% of Pakistan's wheat comes from Ukraine.

Since India is among the world's top 10 wheat exporters, it will not be adversely impacted by the cutback on Ukrainian wheat. It would, in fact, be in a position to ease the looming food crisis in the region and to this end should step up production of wheat and other grains. Being heavily dependent on Russia for potash and phosphate, which are key ingredients in fertilisers, Indian agriculture could also suffer a hit. Additionally, India gets 90% of its sunflower oil from Ukraine and Russia. The Government must look for alternative suppliers immediately. Food security experts have warned the world that the big question is not whether a food crisis lies ahead but how massive that crisis will be. — In Deccan Herald

On 2,000-km mission to search his wife

Bangkok: A man was rescued by a Thai fishing boat after he tried to cross the Andaman Sea in an inflatable boat in order to search for his wife in India which is about 2,000 kms.

On Mar. 23, the Royal Thai Navy received a report from the captain of a fishing trawler about a small inflatable boat they had spotted in the Andaman Sea, about 80 kilometers from the shore. Apparently, there was a man inside who didn't speak Thai or English and fearing that he could get himself killed, the fishing boat towed him and his boat to safety.

A Vietnamese interpreter was later brought in and officials learned that the man, Ho Huang Hung, was on a desperate mission to search for his wife in India with whom he had lost contact two years ago because of the Covid-19 pandemic.

The world's smallest horse breed

Cordoba: Standing at an average height of just 70 cm, Falabella is widely regarded as the world's smallest horse breed, which has been named after the Argentinian family who developed the breed in the middle of the 19th Century.

Some say that their bloodline can be traced back to the Andalusian and Iberian breeds that the Spanish conquistadores brought with them to South America. When the Spanish were driven off, the horses were left to fend for themselves in a harsh, resource-poor environment.

As a result, by the mid-19th century, smaller, inbred animals were being observed in the herds of Mapuche, in southern Buenos Aires province. It was these specimens that were specifically bred to create even smaller animals, which eventually led to the creation of the modern Falabella breed we know today.

Clear footpath encroachment on High Tension Double Road

Sir,

Recently, there was a drive to prevent/stop footpath encroachment by businesses and households in central business area of city. The Mysuru City Corporation served notice and imposed fine on defaulters.

The picture alongside shows the entire footpath of approximately 15-plus feet on either side of the road being occupied. This is common throughout the major stretch of High Tension Double Road in Vijayanagar 2nd Stage.

The impact and consequences are as follows:

1. Pedestrians have to walk on busy road risking their lives.

2. Vehicle parking has to be done on the roads since footpath is occupied.

3. Distraction of sign-boards to drivers while driving, resulting in haphazard driving and accidents.

This has been brought to the notice of the businesses and Corporation authorities but no action has been taken yet.

On behalf of the tax-paying citizens and motorists, I request the authorities to check this menace and educate the business people to develop civic sense and demonstrate citizen-friendly initiative.

Man ends life unable to bear wife's death

Mysuru, Mar. 28 (SBD&KS)- Unable to bear the death of his wife, a man committed suicide by consuming pesticides yesterday. The incident took place at Hanchya village.

The deceased is Mahesh (36), of Hanchya village. His wife Gayathri had died two months ago after she reportedly consumed some tablets instead of the tablets for Blood Pressure (BP), prescribed by a doctor. The couple leaves behind an eight-year-old daughter and a six-year-old son.

Mahesh and Gayathri, who belong to the same village, had got married 10 years ago and were leading a happy life along with their two children. As Gayathri began to suffer from BP, a doctor had prescribed her tablets which were to be consumed for a few months and accordingly, Gayathri was following the doctor's advice.

But in January, Gayathri, instead of taking BP tablets, had consumed a different one resulting in fluctuations in her health condition and fell sick. Though she was rushed to a hospital, Gayathri had breathed her last on the way to the hospital.

Mahesh, who was already shocked over his wife's death, became depressed on seeing the children crying for their mother. He is also said to have attempted to end his life twice but was prevented by his family members and villagers.

Though many tried to console Mahesh, he was unable to come out of the shock and used to always think about his wife.

Yesterday, Mahesh, who went to his farm, consumed pesticides. He then called his brother over the phone and told him to take care of his children well. Mahesh's family members immediately went in search of him and found him writhing in pain in the farm. Though he was being rushed to a hospital, he breathed his last.

A pall of gloom descended on the village following the death of Mahesh and the entire village grieved on seeing the two children who have now been orphaned. It was heart wrenching to see the two kids weeping bitterly and the villagers trying to console them.

A case has been registered in this regard at Mysuru South Police Station.

'Just a little concern can boost self-confidence of patients'

Dr. C.N. Manjunath at valedictory of 3-day nurses training

Mysuru, Mar. 28 (MTY&KS)- "By showing a little concern on patients admitted in hospitals by the staff will not only boost their self-confidence but will also make the patients strong," opined Senior Cardiologist and Director of Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, Bengaluru, Dr. C.N. Manjunath.

He was speaking at the valedictory function of the three-day training programme for nurses, organised by City's Jayadeva Cardiac Centre in association with Noora Health organisation at Jayadeva Hospital in city recently.

Pointing out that patients not only come to hospitals with diseases but they also come with emotions, Dr. Manjunath said that many patients are unable to speak openly with doctors besides stating that by just performing surgeries, angiogram and angioplasty, the patients' health will not be perfect.

Stating that many patients are unable to tell about their health condition, which will result in many of their questions being unanswered, Dr. Manjunath said that in such a situation, nurses should boost their confidence which would make the patients strong.

In a bid to provide extra care to the patients at Jayadeva Hospital, nurses are being provided training and in the first phase, 20 nurses from Mysuru and Kalaburagi are being trained. "Even after patients are discharged from the hospital, co-ordinators should keep in touch with them over the phone and take the patients' feedback. This will reduce the mortality rate and the hospital will also get a good name," Dr. Manjunath suggested.

He further said that the caretakers and family members of the patients should be informed about the health condition of the patient and how to take care of them. If the nurses speak positively with the patients, it will boost the confidence level of the patients, which would remove fear in them, he added.

Dr. Manjunath said that if the patient gives a missed call to 080-45691274 from their registered phone number, they would get the complete information.

Dr. Manjunath was felicitated on the occasion and certificates were distributed to the nurses who had undergone training.

Mysuru Jayadeva Hospital's Medical Superintendent Dr. Sadananda, Care Companion Director Dr. Seema Murthy, H.G. Anand, Dr. Shankarashira, Dr. Veeresh Patil, Dr. Devaraj, Dr. Manjunath, Nursing Superintendent Harish Kumar, PRO Vani Mohan and others were present.

Women advocates must gain knowledge, professionalism

High Court Judge Justice M.G. Uma speaks at Bar Association Women's Day event

High Court Judges Justice Maraluru Indrakumar Arun and Justice M.G. Uma were felicitated during the International Women's Day celebrations at Mysore Bar Association Conference Hall yesterday.

Mysuru, Mar. 28 (PM&BCT)- "Succeeding as a female lawyer is not easy and there are many challenges facing women lawyers in a male-dominated workplace. They must be professional and women must learn to be independent and should gain knowledge to function independently," said High Court Judge Justice M.G. (Makkimane Ganeshaiah) Uma.

She was speaking at the International Women's Day celebrations organised by Mysore Bar Association, Mysuru District Women Advocates Forum and Law Guide journal at the Bar Association Conference Hall yesterday.

Women in male-dominated workplaces and career fields, especially, must support each other. That is the only way that women lawyers will advance to positions of leadership and management, she said. "Women in the legal profession have a larger role to play in society in combating social injustices and disparity. They must be confident with knowledge and competence so that they can inspire confidence in their clients too," she said.

Senior women lawyers, who have experienced the challenges for women in the law, should mentor younger professionals and there is absolutely no place for jealousy and petty differences that can derail the advancement of women.

"When we started the legal profession, it was difficult and there was no one to guide us but still we managed to succeed. There are no such problems now and this does not mean that the present day women lawyers do not have any problems. It is not so. The nature of the problems has changed," Justice Uma said.

"We are moving in the right direction towards gender parity and having a sort of equal number of male and female law graduates is a good start. But it is just the beginning. Achieving gender equality requires leadership in all parts of society and industry, from people like ourselves," she added.

She called upon women lawyers to create a life balance that includes paying attention to personal needs and health — even while being an excellent lawyer. "The balance of work, self, home and family is particularly delicate in a demanding profession like law. The success is to achieve a workable balance where women have to draw lines to protect what is most important to them," she said.

High Court Judge Justice Maraluru Indrakumar Arun said that attitudes towards women in the legal industry have evolved significantly and discrimination, whether gender-related or otherwise, is generally not acceptable. "Women lawyers and judges are significantly recognised for their skills and legal acumen, and have even expanded into hitherto male-only practice domains," he added.

At the event, women advocates who have completed 25 years of service were felicitated.

Even Justice Maraluru Indrakumar Arun and Justice Uma were honoured.

Professor of Maharaja's College Dr. Vijayalakshmi, Principal District and Sessions Court Judge M.L. Raghunath and Mysuru Assistant Commissioner Kamalabai were present as guests. Mysore Bar Association President M. Mahadevaswamy, Vice-President Puttasiddegowda, Secretary S. Umesh, Joint Secretary G.M. Nagesh, Women's Wing Joint Secretary B.S. Bhagyamma and others were present.

16th KSIC outlet in Karnataka, sixth in Mysuru, opens on Kalidasa Road in Jayalakshmipuram

Mysuru, Mar. 28 (RKB&BCT)- The State Government will upgrade the Mysore Silk factory in Mysuru and the tradition of Mysore Silk will be safeguarded and propagated, said Minister for Sericulture, Youth Empowerment and Sports K.C. Narayanagowda.

He was speaking after opening a new KSIC Mysore Silk showroom on Kalidasa Road, opposite the CFTRI Residential Complex in Jayalakshmipuram, here yesterday. This is the 16th KSIC outlet in Karnataka and sixth in Mysuru.

At present, the looms of Mysore Silk Factory are old and they will be upgraded to meet the high demand. Also, newer designs to the famed product from Mysuru will be introduced, at the same time keeping the originality in mind, he said. Self-starting Italian looms will be installed and there are plans to put up 150 modern looms, he added.

State-wide, there are over 175 silk looms that are defunct and steps will be taken to repair them as well. "We have already obtained data of many underutilised looms and defunct ones. All of them will be put to optimal use in phases so that there is increased production to meet the demand," he said.

Noting that Mysore Silk has secured the coveted Geographical Indication (GI) tag for its uniqueness, Narayanagowda said that the silk tradition was patronised by the rulers of Mysore and now patronised and promoted by the State.

Mentioning that the demand for Mysore Silk was very high and the State was unable to cater to the demand, the Minister revealed that Karnataka had got an order from Varanasi to supply over 3,000 metric tonnes of silk but is unable to fulfil it.

He said that new KSIC Mysore Silk showrooms would also come up in various airports of the country including Bengaluru, Delhi and Mumbai.

Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra, Karnataka Compost Development Corporation Chairman S. Mahadevaiah, Corporators Bhagya Ramesh and S.B.M. Manju, KSIC Chairman S.R. ## Parivarthana presents 'Nanna Pritiya Amrita'

Different shades of love

The play will be re-staged at Mini Theatre in Kalamandira on April 3

By Dr. Manik A.V. Bengeri

A play on famous Punjabi woman writer, a poet, a revolutionary and recipient of many prestigious awards in literary fields, Amrita Kaur/ Pritam Singh, was staged successfully at RamaGovinda Rangamandira in city by Parivarthana Ranga Samaja, Mysuru.

In true sense Amrita was a rare combination of beauty, intelligence and sensitivity in her own way. Based on her ability, she started penning her feelings romantically through her poems in Punjabi initially and turned herself into a serious writer, a rebel and a trendsetter. But her personal life remained as a big puzzle for many — but those who could see her closely literally loved her intensely.

The Kannada drama titled 'Nanna Pritiya Amrita' focused on her love life and different shades of love. In a way, her entire life is an unprecedented yet incomplete love, full of challenges and obstacles. Yet the subtle expression of her eternal love and the abundant love she receive at the later part of her life remained immortal.

Prof. S.R. Ramesh, along with his team members, attempted to concentrate on the special aspect of Amrita's love life through the play. The play starts with the entry of the main character Amrita Pritam in which she narrates her childhood atmosphere, the cordiality between Hindu & Muslims and then the ill-effects of India's partition based on religion.

Tejasvini Jois played the role of Amrita. She was married to Pritam Singh in the year 1935, who was a trader and was unaware of poetry, sensitivity, which made Amrita unhappy and their marriage was a big failure which ended in the year 1960. Amrita had two children, one daughter and a son, from this marriage.

At that time, Amrita got attracted towards the Urdu poet Sahir Ludhianvi — but that remained one-sided love. It was true that Sahir was meeting Amrita frequently in many programmes and both were admiring each other's creative writings but he preferred to remain silent and never responded to Amrita.

The dark side of Independence was the partition of India, which led to many unhappy rather brutal happenings. All these happenings created deep impressions on the lives of people especially a sensitive person like Amrita.

That was the time the option was given by the Government to shift or remain in either India or newborn Pakistan. Amrita preferred to shift from Lahore to New Delhi and worked for All India Radio (AIR). Her writing continued along with household chores caring for her two children and managing the job. Her assertive writing received attention & recognitions at literally levels and many awards. Though her personal life remained unsatisfied and unsuccessful, her success in outward world of literature compensated largely. However, in the play more focus was on her love life and experience.

The three main characters namely Amrita, Sahir and Imroz were all inborn talented artistes and all the three were equally capable of creating their own place in their fields. Sahir made his name in penning poems/ songs and became popular in Bollywood as well as in special conferences, where Amrita was also participating.

In the second part, Sahir narrates his life story through monologue that moves the play further. M. Dwarakanath in the role of Sahir makes certain points clear through which the viewers come to know why he never wanted to marry anyone. However, with all such views, he was involved with Sudha Malhotra, a playback singer of his time. This made Amrita unhappy.

At this juncture, another talented and loveable person, a good painter by name Imroz, enters Amrita's life. Imroz is much younger to Amrita but is madly in love with her. His love towards Amrita was beyond description. Many a times even Amrita has expressed her feelings saying that — 'pyaar ko pyaar hi rahane do, use koi naam na do.'

From Imroz side there were no grumblings, no complaints only cooperation and support whenever needed!

Actually as an artist and good painter by himself, he could have gained more popularity outside but he contented himself by remaining as a shadow of Amrita, designing covers for her books and drawing her portraits! For more than 40 years, both of them lived together when the concept of 'live in together' was no in existence at all.

Imroz used to call her as 'Barakate,' which means abundance — for him Amrita's presence, was giving bountiful of happiness.

The peak of Amrita's life as well as the play is the uncommon love between herself and Imroz. The state of mind of Imroz is very peculiar that he felt Amrita's existence even after her death. Until his death, Amrita was with him — no one else!

Tejasvini Jois, Dwarakanath and Manjunath Upadhyaya were all impressive in their roles.

The efforts of entire team members, namely Direction, screenplay and design by Prof. S.R. Ramesh, Music - I.G. Narasimhan, Publicity Design - Harsha, CAVA/ H.K. Vishwanath, Props. Manju Upadhyaya, Brochure Col/ B.S. Satish & Madhav Khare, Dr. Ningappa, Shruthi Bharadwaj and last but not the least, Production Incharge Madhav Khare, deserve appreciation, mainly because all are dedicated to Parivarthana Ranga Samaja as volunteers and work only for the pleasure of creativity.

WORD OF THE DAY

Furtive

Pronunciation: FER-tiv.
Meaning: Furtive means "done in a quiet and secret way to avoid being noticed." It can also mean "sly."
Origin: Furtive comes from either Latin furtivus or French furtif. The earliest known written uses of furtive are from the early 1600s. When first used in English, furtive meant "done by stealth," and later also came to mean, less commonly, "stolen." Whichever meaning you choose, the word has an elusive ancestry, which is particularly fitting, since a thief must be furtive to avoid getting caught in the act.
Example: "This little fluffy-looking character [a tree creeper] moves upwards on the tree in a jerky, furtive way in a similar way to that of a mouse on the ground. This style of movement gave rise to its common name of 'tree mouse' in parts of the UK."

THE ODD WORD

Facinorous

Atrociously wicked.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Funny farm

Meaning: The phrase 'Funny Farm' refers to a psychiatric hospital or insane asylum.
Origin: The phrase 'funny farm' came from the slang use of the word 'funny' to mean unusual or weird, and the description of mentally disturbed people as 'funny in the head.' An early use of the term 'funny farm' can be found in John Knowles' 1959 novel, A Separate Peace: "You might start to believe it, then I'd have to make a reservation for you at the Funny Farm."
Example: "If you don't stop acting so weird, they're going to send you to the funny farm."

The farmer has to be an optimist or he wouldn't still be a farmer.

Prof. Malali Vasanthkumar's books released

Mysuru, Mar. 28- Two books of late Prof. Malali Vasanthkumar were released on Mar. 20, which happened to be his first death anniversary.

His books 'Basava Kranti' and 'Kadala Kavitegalu' were released at a function jointly organised by Mysuru District Sahitya Parishat, Kannada Sahitya Kalakoota and Horeyala Grameena Samskrutika Pratishtana at a private hotel in city.

Speaking on the occasion, senior littérateur Dr. C.P. Krishnakumar (CPK), who was his teacher, recalled his association with Prof. Vasanthkumar and said that the late Professor had good literary thinking and involved in spreading the literary works of Kuvempu. He had also written many poems, dramas, novels, translations and was also a critic.

"Though I was teacher in his student days, I was his student in developing Kannada language. He was a pure soul without any pretensions and an emotional person," said Dr. CPK adding that it is a matter of both pain and happiness to participate in this function in his memory.

Former Director of ORI Dr. S. Shivarajappa, who released Prof. Malali's book 'Basava Kranti,' a thought-provoking drama, said that Prof. Vasanthkumar had contributed immensely for the protection of State's land and language. "Throughout his life he was involved in many struggles for Karnataka and showed his love for Kannada by actively participating in Gokak agitation," Dr. Shivarajappa added.

"Prof. Vasanthkumar has to his credit more than 50 valuable works and during his last days, he wrote the play 'Basava Kranti' and wanted to see the play performed on stage. The drama is a depiction of Basavanna's life and rational thinking," noted Dr. Shivarajappa.

Former District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna said that Prof. Vasanthkumar worked for Kannada outside the Academy also. "As a Professor, he used to create love for Kannada among his students and motivate them to take up literary works. He was a multi-faceted person as he was an organiser, fighter, cultural activist, writer and thinker," added Dr. Rajanna and concluded by saying that the Professor was committed to the cause of Kannada.

Writer Dr. M.P. Manjappa Shetty Masagali released another book of Prof. Malali Vasanthkumar 'Kadala Kavithegalu.'

Mysuru District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Maddikere Gopal presided. Prof. Malali Vasanthkumar's wife Shantha Malali, Folklore Scholar Dr. Besur Mohan Palegar, Kannada Kalakoota President M. Chandrashekar, Publishers D.N. Lokappa, K.C. Omkarappa and others were present.
